"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

Today can be the starting day for those who always wanted to, but never really could quit smoking.

Each year one day set is aside by the American Cancer Society as the Great American Smokeout.

Today is the 16th annual Great American Smokeout, and last year it is reported some 18 million smokers tried to quit for the 24-hour period.

There are those who made it through the day and the next and haven't had a cigarette since.

I realize it is hard to kick the habit of smoking, but I along with millions of other Americans have done so. I am very happy about the fact that it has been over 25 years since I quit smoking "cold turkey."

I feel that if I could stop smoking after 15-plus years, anyone else can. All one has to do is make up his mind, and today would be a good day to start.

There should be no need for me to mention the figures the American Cancer Society provides of the numbers of smokers whose lives are cut short by smoking.

The No. 1 cause of cancer death among men and women today is lung cancer.

There are other smoking-related diseases such as emphysema, chronic bronchitis, heart disease and others.

Best of luck to each and every smoker who meets the challenge and goes smoke-free today. Who knows, you may be able to continue tomorrow, the next day, week, month, year and the rest of your life.

It always does one good to get away from the regular routine for a few days. It can be relaxing and educational too.

Last Thursday Jane and I, along with some 27 others from the Coast and Baton Rouge took advantage of a Hancock Bank Classic Club Dollywood-Gatlinburg trip.

The weather was rather wet on our way to the Chattanooga Choo-Choo Hotel for the first night, but the next four days were a bit cool and ended up being really great to have a good time visiting the Smoky Mountains.

Among the attractions we visited were the Incline Train, Rock City, the Dixie Stampede Saloon Show, Dollywood, Christus Gardens and, best of all, a Helen Cornelius Nashville South dinner and show. Things got going so good, I almost fell over backwards in my chair at the Helen Cornelius show.

There was a lot of shopping, sights to see and just good times.

The only negative result from the trip is having to lose some six pounds I gained from the good food. I now have to hit the walking track to lose the extra weight.

It has been quite a few years since Jane and I visited Gatlinburg, and the place has grown tremendously.

There is a saying, "It takes money to make money," and proof of this is how many people go to Gatlinburg and Dollywood just to see the Christmas decorations.

In Gatlinburg last year, $600,000 was spent on Christmas lights and another $200,000 was added this year.

Some will say that is a lot of money, and really it is, but the community, and many merchants reap so many benefits because of the vast numbers visitors to the area.

On Friday and Saturday nights, (this is the off season) many of the businesses stay open until 11 p.m. and some even past midnight, as long as the shoulder to shoulder crowds are on the sidewalks.

The crowds were not just window shopping either, as they were making all types of purchases, eating and having a good time.

The Smoky Mountains have much to offer visitors, but I feel the Mississippi Gulf Coast, including Hancock County really has more to offer.

It will take a unified effort on behalf of the public sector, as we have many assets in Hancock County which are not being fully utilized.

Back on the long weekend, it really adds to a good time when you travel with a group from your area; try it sometime.

There are things our city crews do at times many of us residents do not realize.

As for instance, Wednesday morning there was an accident at the intersection of Highway 90 and Longfellow Road.

Accidents of that type leave debris such as broken glass and metal on the roadway.

A city crew was at the scene as the vehicles involved were towed away. They were busy with brooms cleaning up the glass. You cannot ask for any faster community service.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

America is not beautiful when covered with litter

Dear Editor,

It seems that as soon as one place in Hancock County is cleaned, you can view another part that is a disgrace to see.

While going over the lyrics to 'America The Beautiful,' I have made up a new set of lyrics. They go as follows:

"Not beautiful are yards and streets, full of trash and cans; Abandoned cars and worn out tires are strewn throughout the land."

America, America, God has shed his grace on thee.

So please be good,
Clean up our neighborhoods
From sea to shining sea."

I am sure Katherine Lee Bates, who wrote the original lyrics would be astonished if she were alive and could see what people are doing to our "America The Beautiful."

Respectfully,
Nina S. Garcia

CONSUMER TIPS

Before making a purchase

Listed below are tips on how to get the most for your money and avoid purchasing problems:

1. Analyze what you need and what product or service features are important to you.

2. Compare brands. Ask for word-of-mouth recommendations and look for formal product comparison reports.

3. Compare stores. Look for a store with a good reputation and plan ahead to take advantage of sales.

4. Check for any extra charges, such as delivery fees, installation and service costs.

5. Read warranties to understand what you must do and what the manufacturer must do if you have a problem.

6. Read contract terms carefully. Make sure all blank spaces are filled in before you sign it.

7. Ask the sales person to explain the store's return or exchange policy.

8. Don't assume an item is a bargain just because it is advertised as one.

Anti-litter hotlines set up in Bay, county

Hotlines have been implemented for people in Bay St. Louis and outside the city limits to call if they see someone toss trash out of a vehicle.

If you see someone do this, memorize or write down the vehicle's license number and call the appropriate hotline number. A recording will instruct you as to how to report the violation.

After the vehicle registration is traced, a letter will be sent by the appropriate authority to the vehicle owner. The letter does not accuse the vehicle owner of throwing the trash, but states that an occupant of a vehicle which is or was owned by that person was seen throwing trash out of the vehicle.

The letter states that no charges are being filed at the time the letter is issued, but also reminds the person that littering is illegal and carries a $250 fine.

The numbers to call are 255-6234 for a violation witnessed in Bay St. Louis, and 255-6246 for one witnessed in the county.

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

By Bill Minor

Passage of lottery amendment broke 'Bible Belt' tradition

Preachers railed against it. The governor of the state said it was a bad deal. The state's largest newspaper, and quite a few others, came out editorially urging it be rejected. Nobody campaigned for it.

But it passed. And in an election in which more voters participated than any in state history.

The lottery.

Mississippians after 123 years got a chance to speak on whether or not they wanted to legalize a state lottery, and they said: YES. They repealed a constitutional ban on lotteries which has been in the state's basic law since the Constitution of 1869. It was brought forward in the 1890 document under which the state still lives.

This, no doubt, is the biggest break with Mississippi's strict "Bible Belt" tradition, other than the repeal of the 58-year-old prohibition law in 1966, that has occurred this century.

It is somewhat amazing that the lottery amendment passed with 53 percent of the vote in the face of a highly organized, religious-based statewide campaign against it and not even a shred of a campaign for it.

This underscores the validity of what Mississippians had been saying in opinion polls for several years, that they were tired of their leaders denying them of having a lottery. The margin in favor of a lottery would have been a good bit larger if there had not been such a strenuous campaign against it.

Some along the Legislature had fully expected that the big lottery operating companies nationally were going to dump a pile of money into Mississippi to help get the lottery bill repealed. That didn't happen.

It's fascinating to see how the lottery fared in several counties which had local "sin" issues on the ballot the same day. In Rankin County, a local option election to legalize liquor failed. But the county voted in favor of the lottery.

Similarly, in DeSoto County, a dockside gambling proposition failed, but the lottery amendment won approval.

What is bitterly ironic now, in the aftermath of the lottery being approved by the people in a statewide referendum, is that

Gov. Kirk Fordice and some other key opponents such as the Mississippi Baptist Convention, are talking about wrecking implementation of it in the Legislature.

Fordice is even saying that the 53 percent vote for the lottery amendment was no mandate. Yet, he won the governor's chair last year by only 50.1 percent of the vote (in a much smaller turnout) and he claimed he had a mandate.

Although Fordice has stopped short of saying he would veto legislation putting the lottery in effect, some have interpreted his remarks as meaning that he would. Of course, it would take a two-thirds vote to override a veto and that appears virtually impossible. As it is, at some point, a three-fifths vote will be necessary to pass the revenue portion of a lottery bill.

If Fordice has any expectation of being re-elected in 1995, he might as well forget about it if he spurns the expressed will of the people to have a state lottery.

For clues, you only have to look at what happened to the six senators who were defeated last year after they blocked the people's right to vote on the lottery amendment.

The Mississippi Baptist Convention's intention now to booby-trap implementation of the lottery smacks of gross vindictiveness because they failed to march their minions to the polls and vote against the amendment.

As one spokesman at the Baptist Convention's session last week was intimating that God's vote hasn't yet been cast on the lottery, the same convention meantime evidenced begrudging bestowal of Christian charity towards the choices Americans made in the presidential election.

The body refused to pray for President-elect Bill Clinton and Vice-president elect Al Gore until after a reference to Clinton and Gore as "fellow Southern Baptists" was deleted from a proposed resolution.

So goes life in the land of the magnolias.

IN AND AROUND DIAMONDHEAD

By Margaret Williamson

THEME PARK
A public meeting November 15 at the Diamondhead Community Center regarding the proposed theme park for Hancock and Harrison counties, turned into a shouting match, with many angry Diamondhead residents walking out after a question-and-answer period that followed a slide presentation.

Stephen Guice and Col. Murray Keel, representing Mississippi Motorsports Park Inc., failed miserably in their attempt to convince the many folks in attendance of their sincerity in wanting their plan to work and in wanting to be "good neighbors."

Throughout the heated discussion, it was Paul Montjoy, general manager of the Diamondhead Property Owners Association, who "came to the rescue," so to speak, by suggesting a sensible solution. He stated that, on the advice of the Diamondhead Community Association, a committee be selected to read and study the park proposal in depth. The committee would be made up of five or more people, each with expertise in law, accounting, real estate, state and federal legislation, and other areas.

The committee would then present the county board of supervisors with recommendations about the park.

With some order restored, the meeting ended. This will be an interesting story to follow.

Acker to appear in SLT production

Sara Pagones is directing the next Slidell Little Theatre production, "The Trip to Bountiful." The Horton Foote play about an old lady who escapes from her son and daughter-in-law and escapes to her home in Bountiful, Texas, is currently in rehearsal.

The cast is headed by Gladys Hughes as Mrs. Carrie Watts; Myron and Blair Miller as Mrs. Watts' son and daughter-in-law, Ludie and Jessie Mae Watts; Josefa Wilson as Thelma; David Fabre as the Houston Ticket Man, and Paul Thi-bodeaux as the 2nd Houston Ticket Man.

Other cast members include Hughie Hughes, (a traveler), Renee Swaim (another traveler), Ed McLellan (Harrison Ticket Man), and Clem Acker of Diamondhead (sheriff).

"The Trip to Bountiful" will run for three weeks beginning Friday, Dec. 4. Performance times are Friday and Saturday evening, 8 p.m., through December 19, and a matinee Sunday, December 13. For reservations, call 1-504-643-0556.

mondhead Property Owners Association, who "came to the rescue," so to speak, by suggesting a sensible solution. He stated that, on the advice of the Diamondhead Community Association, a committee be selected to read and study the park proposal in depth. The committee would be made up of five or more people, each with expertise in law, accounting, real estate, state and federal legislation, and other areas.

There will be three divisions: professional, amateur and child. The entries must have the Diamondhead logo or the word "Diamondhead" on them, and be able to be placed on a tree, tree top or Hannukah bush.

The contest is open to all Diamondhead POA members and their families, so hurry to get your entries and numbers.

Winners will be announced at the next Art Guild meeting December 7.

ACADEMY BENEFIT

The Sports Locker, located in the Diamondhead Plaza shopping center, is sponsoring a 5K run/walk and 1-mile fun run Saturday, Dec. 5, at 10 a.m.

The entry fee of $15 includes a free t-shirt, so put on those walking shoes and register now.

YOUTH

ORGANIZATION FORMED

Due to the increase in the number of families with children moving into Diamondhead, a new youth organization has been formed.

The officers, elected at the first meeting, are: Ken Talley, president; Roberta Lottes, vice president; Patty Dungan, secretary; and Terri Thompson, treasurer.

The purpose of the group, who should be commended for volunteering their time and effort, is to encourage and support a multitude of youth sports, activities and projects. Swimming, golf, tennis, soccer, baseball, basketball, etc., are in the plans, as well as a playground and picnic area for the younger children.

Ultimately the goal is to develop an activities complex for the youth of Diamondhead.

A fund raiser, the Diamondhead Youth Grand Slam Dance, will be at the Country Club Saturday from 8 p.m. to midnight. "Dance to Flight" will entertain.

There will be a cash bar and complimentary hors d'oeuvres. Tickets are $25 per couple, or $15 per person.

For more information on the organization or the dance, and to purchase tickets, call 255-1399 or 255-6510.

PHONE DIRECTORY

A group of ladies from the Newcomers Club are graciously giving of their time to help the Diamondhead Fire Department compile and update its phone directory.

Hopefully the directory will go to press soon and be ready for your Christmas card list. Copies are $2 each.

Don't forget the Christmas tree sale starts after Thanksgiving.

TURKEY DAY FEAST

Diamondhead's traditional Thanksgiving buffet will be at the Country Club Thursday, Nov. 26, from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

A scrumptious array of wonderful things, starting with an appetizer display, will be available.

The menu will include autumn soup, cold salads; dinner's choice of roast turkey, ham, beef au jus or catch of the day; oyster and cornbread dressing, potatoes, yams, peas and squash casserole, and some mouthwatering desserts.

Cost is $12.95 for adults, $6.95 for children 5 to 11, and free to children 4 and younger. Give Mother a break, and make your reservations early, please! Call 255-2525 or 255-2919. Bon appetit!

Tips On Writing EFFECTIVE Classified Ads

• STICK TO THE FACTS

Prospective buyers need to know details, like the condition of the item for sale, the size, brand name, color and any other relevant information that would help them make a decision.

• BE HONEST

Avoid being unethical, exaggerating or misinforming potential buyers with what you make a sale, and may only serve to lose a prospective buyer's trust. Even if they come to look at what you have to sell, they'll be less likely to buy the item or trust you once they see they've been misled.

• SPELL IT OUT

Abbreviations are not easily understood by many people and may even confuse a reader. It only takes a second to pass over an ad because it doesn't seem clear, why let it be yours because you abbreviated a description?

• BE THE BOTTOM LINE

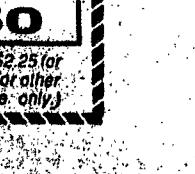

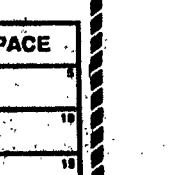

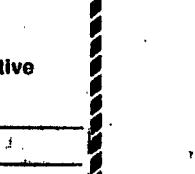

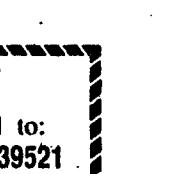

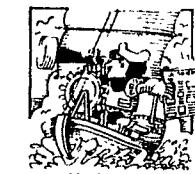

State the price. You'll save yourself the hassle of having to answer calls from prospects who, upon learning the price, are not really interested. Price is the first thing they'll look for when reading your ad, and when prospects know the price, you'll know you have a serious buyer on the line.

• BE THERE

List the best hours to call and make sure you're at home. If you don't list a specific time, you could be flooded with calls any time of the day or night. And when you're not at home to take calls, most likely, they won't call back.

• ASK US

If you aren't sure how to word your ad or what features to include, why not ask us? Our professionals on staff know how to create an effective ad that sells, they're always willing to help, and there's no charge!

Bay High's soccer team handily defeated Resurrection 8-0 in Monday night's match at Pascagoula. The Tigers' goalkeeper, freshman Ross Pitcairn, denied the Eagles' one shot on goal.

Leading scorer for the Tigers was Joe Dobson with 3, followed by Shawn Keener and Richard Watson with 2 each, and Christopher Boston with 1.

Tied for most assists were Richard Watson and Greg Ellis

Rocks drop two to Maroon Tide

The Picayune Maroon Tide won both the varsity and junior varsity games Tuesday against St. Stanislaus at the Brother Peter Memorial Gym.

VARSITY

The Tide broke open a tight game late in the fourth quarter to nip SSC 66-52.

Coach Jay Ladner commented, "The score does not reflect the closeness of the contest, as the Rock-A-Chaws trailed 49-46 with a little over three minutes to play."

Sophomore Vinny Moran paced the Rocks with 15 points, followed by Hector Hernandez with 12 and Brandon Benoit with 10. Imari Esters and Benoit led the Rocks' rebounding efforts with six each.

Moran and Benoit each added three assists, and Benoit led the team in recoveries with three.

Ladner said, "St. Stanislaus, with no returning starters and only one of the top 10 players from last season's team, appears to be much stronger than expected. Picayune was rated as the pre-season favorite to win the district championship, but struggled to put away the scrappy Rocks."

"We played well in stretches and had numerous opportunities to win, but we are still making mistakes due to inexperience. We are extremely young and sometimes show it.

"If we continue to work hard, I believe we have a shot at having a good team."

The loss to Picayune evened the Rocks' seasonal record at 2-2. SSC returns to action Friday night as the Petal Panthers travel to Bay St. Louis. The Rocks' freshmen will tangle with the Panthers at 5 p.m.; the J.V. game will start at 6, and the varsity game at 7:30.

JR. VARSITY

The Tide rolled over SSC 86-43 in the JV game. Lamont Rancifer and Thomas Smith led Picayune with 17 and 16 points, respectively, with Jude Tschirn and Brian Thigpen paced SSC with 15 and 13.

David McGuinness led the Rocks in assists and played an excellent game as point guard, Ladner said. McGuinness also added 7 points to SSC's score.

Coach Jerry Spell commented of the team, "The JV squad has six football players who had practiced for only one week as basketball players before this game."

The St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws began their basketball season November 11 with a 54-34 victory over the Pearl River Central Blue Devils in the Hancock County Tournament.

Imari Esters drew first blood as he scored on a layup shortly after the tip-off. The Rocks' early momentum carried over, and the Blue Devils never claimed a lead during the game.

The Rocks were led offensively by Shawn Williams, who tallied 18 points. Esters shined as he led the defense with 12 rebounds and 15 points.

Hector Hernandez also made impressive plays on defense as he snagged 10 rebounds for the Rocks.

The Rocks did fall short the

HIGHLIGHTS

Three intraconference matchups this week loom large in the national rankings picture. The first is among powers of the two-season-old Big East, Miami and Syracuse. The teams have met only once over the past 12 years, a 33-7 Miami win in 1990. When Washington pummeled Stanford three weeks ago and made a strong (if short-lived) case for the No. 1 ranking, the Hurricanes realized that Syracuse would be the place where they'd need to present some evidence of their own. With some of the pressure off after Arizona's upset of Washington, Miami won't be concerned with winning by as large a margin as Washington's over Stanford, but the Hurricanes will still have to work hard to win. The intangible factor in this game is how well Syracuse bounces back after a tough game with Boston College last week.

In the Big Ten, Michigan visits Ohio State, against whom the Wolverines have won 50 of the 88 games they've played dating back to 1897. Since its opening tie with Notre Dame, Michigan has been virtually unstoppable. The Buckeyes, on the other hand, have been something of a mystery this season, running ice-cold or scalding hot, losing to Wisconsin and Illinois and beating—of all teams—Syracuse. We might pick Ohio State in an upset—if Michigan weren't on such a roll.

In the Pacific 10, Washington-Washington State shapes up as a good game again after two years in which Washington State finished a combined 7-15 and was blown out by the Huskies 56-21 (in '91) and 55-10 (in '90). Washington, which holds a 30-game advantage in the series since the teams first met in 1900, last lost to the Cougars in 1988. But because Washington State is vastly improved, the Huskies don't stand much of a chance of repeating their most recent performances. Washington should win, but this year its first team will still be playing at the end of the game.

Our accuracy is holding steady at .756. Through games of Nov. 7 we picked 1,441 right and 464 wrong.

NFL Forecast for Sunday and Monday

Nov. 22-23

Buffalo, 27—Atlanta, 17

These two teams have met only five times in 19 years, the Bills winning the first two and the Falcons the last three. Buffalo can't let up after tough games with Pittsburgh and Miami.

Chicago, 21—Green Bay, 13

With a beaut of a faked punt and a bend-but-don't-break defense, the Bears beat the Packers a month ago, 30-10. Like every game it plays, this is a must win for Chicago.

Dallas, 34—Phoenix, 20

The first time the Cowboys and Cardinals played, Michael Irvin caught three touchdown passes—one an 87-yarder—as Dallas won 31-20. The Cowboys have taken four straight from Phoenix.

Detroit, 19—Cincinnati, 14

The worst of the NFC Central and AFC Central face off. The Bengals have won the last three in their series, including a 42-7 drubbing in 1989, the last time they met.

Kansas City, 24—Seattle, 12

In the second week of the season, the Seahawks were bombed by their former quarterback, Dave Krieg, as Kansas City won easily 26-7. The Chiefs should win their fourth straight from Seattle.

L.A. Raiders, 28—Denver, 26

The Broncos' 17-13 win in the season opener began a nightmarish four-game losing streak for the Raiders. Neither Marinovich nor Schroeder has inspired L.A., but Elway, too, has been sporadic.

Miami, 31—Houston, 27

Last year the Oilers beat the Dolphins 17-13, and with Houston fighting for its postseason life, this one should be just as close. At home for the second straight week, Miami gets the nod.

Minnesota, 33—Cleveland, 16

The Vikings and Browns haven't met since 1989, when Cleveland won in overtime, 23-17. The most telling sign of Minnesota's strength is that it hasn't let up against so-so teams.

N.Y. Jets, 20—New England, 14

In week five the winless Jets beat the winless Patriots 30-21 in the so-called Doughnut Bowl. The only real highlight for either team has been New York's freakish win over Miami.

Philadelphia, 30—N.Y. Giants, 24

This could be a great game or a yawn, depending on whether the Good Giants or the Bad Giants show up. The Eagles have won three straight in this series, which began in 1933.

Pittsburgh, 27—Indianapolis, 9

The Steelers have won their last three games against the Colts, including a 21-3 victory last year. Indy has improved dramatically since then, but that may not be evident in this game.

San Diego, 23—Tampa Bay, 17

Since they first played in 1976, the Buccaneers have yet to beat the Chargers in four attempts. This year Tampa Bay has scored a few more points than S.D., but given up a lot more.

San Francisco, 29—L.A. Rams, 20

The Rams played the 49ers almost even in week five, losing 27-24 on Mike Cofer's last-second field goal. San Francisco hasn't been terribly consistent, but it should bear down for this one.

New Orleans, 28—Washington, 27

(Monday) A potential classic Monday nighter—a crucial game for both teams, but especially the Redskins. If New Orleans plays to its potential, it will beat Washington for the first time in 13 years.

Parental involvement at Hancock High encourages teacher/student enthusiasm

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

This past September, parents of Hancock Junior/Senior High School students were asked to volunteer time at the school as assistants, and the response was tremendous.

Out of nearly 300 parents present that night, 40-50 signed up immediately.

They are presently performing a wide range of services, from assisting teachers with clerical needs to tutoring students.

Kim Saucier, a senior high algebra teacher, and Francis Weiler, a junior high English teacher, beamed with excitement over the initial response their suggestion generated.

"The idea came as a spin-off thought during a staff development workshop," Saucier explained. "We were trying to think of a way to increase parent involvement in the education process.

"The district did a survey of teacher needs, and during the school's first open house, the list of needs were presented to the parents.

"The parents are excited and the kids are proud of their parents. I can't begin to tell you how much it has helped me."

Saucier said since that September meeting, she benefits from the contribution of one mother who regularly designs and maintains her bulletin board. This monthly chore relieves Saucier of that time spent, be it only one hour, to concentrate on other student needs.

"Ordinarily, I did the bulletin board during planning period," she stated, "though it may not sound like much time gained, it is."

Another small task, but an immensely important one to science/chemistry teacher, Suzette Burton, is the presence of Helen Davis.

Davis, mother of two HHS students and one HHS graduate, comes to class one hour a day, twice a week, to help supervise science experiments.

"Sometimes I have seven or eight groups of students, all performing the same experiment at the same time," Burton commented. "If Helen (Davis) does nothing more than walk around and make sure everyone is keeping their safety glasses on, she has helped me."

"It is very hard to watch everything going on at one time, and safety glasses are one of those things students 'accidentally' remove."

Davis said when she first heard of the program, she thought this would be a way for her to be more involved with her children.

She added, when they placed her in a science lab, she thought, "How can I possibly help?" it had been so long since her own school days.

Today, Davis claims to be learning right along with the students; the students say her presence is a benefit.

"While Mrs. Burton is busy with another group," one young woman stated, "Mrs. Davis helps another group. It's like having two teachers."

For Davis the greatest personal benefit she has received is a common topic of discussion. "Now I have something to discuss with my children when we are home."

"I also have a better understanding of what a teacher's day is like," she interjected.

Another example is Mary Smith, a mother of two HHS students, who confessed to having been excited by the idea of helping. "I always liked math," Smith stated. "As a housekeeper, I realized I use math every day, from balancing a checkbook to measuring ingredients for cooking."

"I wasn't sure how I could help, but I said, 'I'm going to do it.'

For about two months now, Smith donates several hours a week to sit with individual students and review algebra lessons. The students are improving.

Perhaps the most successful example of the parent involvement program is Joe Vizzini.

Vizzini, a retired stevedore superintendent, claims to have earned an income for 38 years through utilization of his math skills.

"After I attended that first meeting," Vizzini stated, "I thought, if I can help one child in the course of a year, I've accomplished something."

"I started with one period a day, three days a week. After that, it was every day from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m."

"I really enjoy it," he concluded.

Vizzini assists several teachers, tutoring students in various subjects when they require additional help.

Working privately with two young women, fraction computations were being reviewed and explained.

"We didn't know how to do it," one of the two girls commented. "Mr. Vizzini came and we're catching on to it."

Saucier reports for as many parents and various skills available within the community, Hancock High School has needs.

Burton describes the completion of one simple task by a volunteer parent as invaluable. "One mother drives to the pet store for me and picks up fish for the aquarium and brings them directly here. This saves me from having to drive to the pet store after classes, taking the fish home where I must keep them in a particular temperature of water over night until I can bring them in the next morning."

"It takes a half hour of time out of her day and she can accomplish this chore with her youngest child in tow."

Saucier added, "Yes, we need and want the tutors and the assistants, but the small acts contribute just as much."

Superintendent Myrna Bourgeois reports the positive response by parents has inspired the district to now consider the development of more and more parent-type involvement programs.

The district recently began a mentor program whereby one student and one local parent or resident is matched. Here the building of a big brother/big sister type of relationship is encouraged.

The first participants in the mentor program met last week.

Over and over, the theme of parent involvement is encouraged in education. The benefits are revealed through the students' improved grades and pride in the volunteer mom's and dad's.

Assistant Mary Smith tutors individual student in math.

Adopt a smoker for the day suggests Cancer Society

The Hancock County chapter American Cancer Society asks smokers to adopt a friend for the day to help the Great American Smokeout.

To encourage someone to quit smoking, ACS is adopting them by offering small rewards and gifts to those who quit.

Look for schools and places working in the Great American Smokeout by speaking with your teacher and librarians.

A FEW QUIT TIPS

Hide all ashtrays, matches, etc.

Lay in a supply of sugarless gum, carobets, etc.

Drink lots of liquids, but pass up coffee & alcohol.

Tell everyone you're quitting for the day.

When the urge to smoke hits, take a deep breath, hold it for 10 seconds, & release it slowly.

Exercise to relieve the tension.

Try the 4000 ways to quit and ask a friend to quit too.

Hancock schools honor adopters

The Hancock School District recently hosted an appreciation luncheon in honor of their Partners-in-Education at Charles B. Murphy Elementary.

Adopt-A-School coffee mugs were presented to the 53 adopters in appreciation for their contributions.

The program began with a welcome song performed by the kindergarten class and ended with a salute to the Partners in Education by sixth grade students, directed by Betty Foster and Lillian Bryan, respectively. Each adopter received a place mat designed by Eloise Smith, second grade teacher, and the second grade class.

Bay High School French Club collects receipts to raise funds

The Bay High School French Club is collecting Delchamp's receipts to raise funds for the club's activities this school year.

As in previous years, the club plans to "adopt" a needy family at Christmas and provide a decorated tree, a Christmas meal and gifts for family members. Club members also will sing French carols at Hancock Medical Center and the two nursing homes in Bay St. Louis.

In February, the club will host up to 10 exchange students from Carentan, France, a small town in Normandy.

Each friend student will spend two weeks with a host family that has a student at Bay High. The guest students will be taken to New Orleans for a historic tour of the French Quarter and for lunch at Arnaud's.

Bay High's French Club also will host a skating party for the other schools along the Coast who will participate in the exchange program.

Anyone interested in donating their Delchamp's receipts to the club can contact Kathy MacDowell at 467-5599, or take or mail the receipts to the school at the following address: Bay High School French Club, 750 Blue Meadow Road, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520.

St. Stanislaus raises $1,200 for Somalia Relief Fund

"I thought that someone should take action to make a difference for the people in Somalia," said Asad Azhar, a junior at St. Stanislaus who spearheaded a two-week drive which netted $1,200 for the Somalia Relief Fund.

St. Stanislaus students donated monies for the drive during homeroom, and Brother John Hotstrem's senior homeroom hosted an omelet breakfast for the drive.

Azhar joined the Key Club this year and has been a member of SADD for two years. He is the son of Dr. Mrs. Zahur Ashar of Port Sulfur, LA.
